

OFFICIALS FOR GAMES ARE ASKED TO APPLY

Call Is Made for Students
To Preside at Cage
Contests

With the announcement of the first interfraternity basketball games starting in the Coliseum Monday evening, there comes a notice from the athletic office regarding officials for those games.

The officiating will be done by students, and they will receive compensation for each game they work. A Big Six conference ruling allows students to receive pay for officiating at intramural games, without affecting their amateur standing.

Monday Is Deadline.

For the preliminary games officials will receive fifty cents each. For the final round games, the amount will be increased to seventy-five cents.

Anyone wishing to officiate in any of the tournament games is requested to call at the athletic office and leave his name any time before Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock. At that time there will be a meeting of all fraternity athletic managers to draw up a list of approved officials.

From this list, the athletic office will assign men to work each game, thereby eliminating a possible conflict between fraternities in choosing their arbitrators.

HARE AND HOUND RACE IS SLATED FOR TODAY

Smutny And Jamrog To Act
As Hares In Race Held
This Afternoon

If weather conditions permit, a hare and hound race will be run this afternoon, starting at 4:30 o'clock.

As usual, all contestants are requested to appear at the stadium, ready to run, at four o'clock, furnishing their own transportation to the course. Smutny and Jamrog, winners in the last chase, are to lay the trail.

This race has been postponed several times, but the postponement has always been due to weather conditions. The event will be run this afternoon if it is at all possible.

Plans are being made for two races after the one this afternoon, but their running depends entirely upon favorable weather.

Then he gathers his team to see themselves in action, and no alibis are possible.

ON THE VALLEY

"Stop Blue Howell and we can beat the Cornhuskers," says Coach Jock Sutherland to his Panther eleven as they travel westward for the all-important intersectional clash with Coach Ernest E. Bear's scarlet-clad Nebraskans. That the Pitt team and coach fear the Cornhusker backfield ace is no secret but we are wondering if they will slip up on Clair Sloan, Nebraska's ace of triple-threat men. Sloan's work in the Sooner game was of the all-American variety with the Husker flash performing in three departments of the game.

And the Pitt Panther eleven thinks that it can stop Howell. Coach Jock Sutherland saw the powerful Blue perform last year on the Pitt field, running interference for Presnell and this week he has drilled his Golden Panther forward wall to stop the line drives of the "Blueboy." Nevertheless, Saturday afternoon on Memorial Stadium field, the mighty Nebraska "powerhouse" will have one of its greatest jobs of the season and that—to turn the seventh game into a win and still go heralded about the country as an undefeated football eleven. To stop the Pittsburgh Panther eleven will be the toughest job so far on the 1923 schedule.

Lawrence Perry, noted sport writer, says that the Army and Navy football elevens will resume gridiron relations next year, or if not next year in the very immediate future. The Navy eleven missed its annual game with the Cadets and wants that game back on its schedule at any price. The Middles miss the Army game and are not hesitating to admit it, states Perry.

Every Pittsburgh football fan is eagerly watching the proceedings of the coming Pitt-Husker game in Lincoln Saturday. The Pittsburgh followers are expecting a great game from the Huskers and are wondering if Pitt's brilliant but light backfield can break through the strong and powerful Cornhusker forward wall that the scarlet will present on Memorial field Saturday. In the backfield Coach Jock Sutherland will have Kansas and Williams who have run wild against practically all opponents this year.

Coach Gwinn Henry will take his Missouri Tiger eleven to New York this week for the Missouri-New York university game at Yankee stadium. The Tiger eleven came through the Kansas Aggie tilt in good shape and Henry will have a squad of 31 men to take to the eastern city for the Violet game. Henry is drilling his Bengal outfit in new plays to use against Coach "Chick" Meehan's eleven. Forward passing with John Waldorf, 195-pound fullback, on the hurling end is one of the plays getting plenty of attention from the Tiger mentor.

Down at Norman Coach Ad Lindsey is working his Husker-defeated team for the coming game with the Kansas Jayhawkers at Lawrence this Saturday. The Sooners and Kansas should put on a good exhibition and judging from comparative scores, the Sooners are booked for a 20 point defeat but the dope bucket means nothing these days and the Sooners may give the Kaw team its second Big Six defeat of the season.

Among the records held by the mighty Nebraska football team this year is that the scarlet-clad mole-skin warriors have put away three homecoming day games in the win column. The Nebraska team met

Missouri at Lincoln for the University of Nebraska Homecoming battle and won it 24 to 0. The next homecoming game that the Huskers featured in was down at Lawrence where once again the men of Coach Bear put a homecoming tilt in the win column, and this time 20 to 0. The third time that Nebraska won a homecoming battle was down at Norman last week, 44 to 6. That's a record for any football eleven to shoot for.

Down at Manhattan in the camp of the Kansas Aggie Wildcat, Coach Bo McMillin is switching his lineup and experimenting with his purple team in an attempt to find some possible winning combination. At present the Aggie Wildcat is pretty tame and hasn't shown any signs of wildness as yet this season. With a blank in the conference win column, the Aggie mentor will attempt to at least win one game on the schedule in the final game of the season. Will the Nebraska Cornhuskers at Lincoln and Coach "Bo" will attempt to turn back the Husker "powerhouse" to be the first Big Six team to defeat Nebraska.
